THERE ARE GIANTS IN THE LAND!

By Ron Cooper

Our spies (daily news) have come back to us and reported the wonderful things in the land, but they are controlled by a different people, a different culture. I am hearing (from the media and the slaves on Government pay rolls) we cannot defeat these giants from all sides. The giants (big government) are good for us. They are benevolent task masters. Their King is fair spoken and promises us the riches of his kingdom gathered from all the rich resources (redistributed from taxes) of the land. There is no place for us in his land unless we serve him and join (vote for) him.

Can we question the (news and ads) reports? Is God abandoning us or are we abandoning God? Is Fox news a reliable source of encouragement to counter the enemies' spies (network news)? Is the church asleep in the pulpit? Is morality relative to the whims of evolution, socialism, atheists, progressive democrats, and political correctness?

You may be saying it is their land (it's too late, we must surrender). You may say we have no rights since political correctness rules (separation of church and State). You may say we are a Democracy and the will of the mob rules (I don't know what the Constitution says or means, but surely our elected representatives must be obeying it). These are all false statements. That is unless you banish yourself to wander in the desert and give everything over to God's enemies because they are too big in your eyes.

The Giants are easily defeated when we are bold and work under God's authority. We need to understand and study our Constitution in its historical reality. We need to understand we are established as a Constitutional Republic under the authority of the Bible, not the authority of majority rule (mob democracy). We collectively must defend to the last full measure of courage our God given rights: Life, Liberty, and Property. Our government was established to defend these rights. When they don't, they are tyrants by definition. Just check out the Declaration of Independence and read it carefully. We are there again.

You may say we have no good choices. Politics is dirty. Our founders said it is the job of patriotic citizens and church leaders to defend the moral high ground. We must understand government legally has no power not enumerated in the Constitution. If it is not

Lies in the Textbooks Part 1:

By Mark Jurkovich

We all expect the secular science textbooks of today to promote evolution. But we do not expect them to deliberately lie to get their point across. Sadly, as Dr Kent Hovind explains, the average textbook contains on the order of 50 lies in its quest to convince the reader of evolution. Dr. Hovind is a former high school teacher who has identified many of these for us. Most of this series is derived from part 4 of his seminar (see link at end of article) and will cover a selection of these lies found in today's textbooks.

This article will cover the principal lie. All the other lies attempt to 'prove' this first lie. And that lie is that evolution is a "fact". Very few, if any, textbooks will admit that evolution is a model, lower than a theory, and not a fact. Dr. Hovind gives the following example from a textbook from 2000 which quotes RC Lewontin (1981), "No person who pretends to any understanding of the natural world can deny these facts..." The textbook even went on to say "A minority of fundamentalists remain opposed to evolutionary biology..."

The deeper problem is that evolution is not even a theory, rather it is a religion. Some leading evolutionists occasionally let their guard down and admit this. For example, Huxley was quoted saying, "I suppose the reason why we leapt at the origin of the species was that the idea of God interfered with our sexual mores". And Sir Arthur Keith (of Piltdown Man infamy) said, "Evolution is unproved and unprovable. We believe it only because the only alternative is special creation, and that is unthinkable."

Most textbooks do not even clearly define all that the theory of evolution entails. One text simply says "Evolution is descent with modification". Another text says "Evolution is change over time" – later adding "in other words living things have changed over time". But the theory entails a lot more. There are actually six kinds of evolution:

- Cosmic – the big bang; origin of time, space and matter;
- Chemical – formation of all other elements from hydrogen and helium;
- Stellar – how stars supposedly formed;
- Organic – life originating from non-life;
- Macro – one kind changing into another kind;
- Micro – variation within a kind.

The textbook examples cited previously only speak of macro-evolution. Textbooks will likely also speak of cosmic evolution in their astronomy sections. And they will often use examples of micro-evolution (the only one that fits within a Biblical framework), and claim the examples prove macro-evolution. But to keep God completely out of the equation, you need all six types of evolution.

Each one of these types of evolution (outside of micro) has insurmountable problems associated with them. Many Creation Science books cover these problems, samples of which are covered in the references below. Future articles will cover other lies commonly found in our children's textbooks.

"Evolution is a religion. This was true of evolution in the beginning, and it is true of evolution still today"

Michael Ruse, author of Darwinism Defended.

National Post, May 13, 2000)

Questions and Answers

By Ron Cooper

- 1) Where is God in Heaven?
 - a. There are 3 heavens:
 - i. Where birds fly (atmosphere), the first place above the earth;
 - ii. All of outer space, the place of the sun, moon, and stars;
 - iii. The place OUTSIDE of the created universe, where God lives.
- 2) What does Numbers 13 mean when it says: ...take the land...
 - a. Land has people on it;
 - b. People have government/rulers;
 - c. The call was to overthrow the government and kill the people/drive them out.
 - i. Organized strength is a government;
 - ii. An ungodly government lacks authority;
 - iii. A people NOT following God's clear command to make a country righteous by their actions condemns the people (nation) to something less than God's plan.
- 3) How can a good God allow so much pain and suffering?
 - a. Death: a curse and a blessing (Ref: The Lie, Evolution – Ken Ham ©1987, Chapter 7)
 - i. Death and suffering is the basis of evolution, but is considered good.
 - ii. God created "everything good", but sin entered the world by one man, Adam.
 - iii. By that sin, death and suffering permanently entered the creation.
 - iv. God sent a perfect sacrifice to pay for the sins (redeem the sinner) of those accepting that gift.
 - v. Without death there is no resurrection, no hope of being with God forever.

Quotable Quotes

- Giving money and power to government is like giving whiskey and car keys to teenage boys. -- P.J. O'Rourke, Civil Libertarian
- Government's view of the economy could be summed up in a few short phrases: If it moves, tax it. If it keeps moving, regulate it. And if it stops moving, subsidize it. -- Ronald Reagan (1986)

- I don't make jokes. I just watch the government and report the facts. -- Will Rogers

there, it is at the State level or with the people.

The Bills of Rights is what the people and/or the States say it is, not the federal government or the courts. It must be defended and the cost is going up every day we do not collectively act. "We the people" are those who defend and protect the written, defined (as in Webster's 1828 dictionary or Blackstone's Commentaries) the US Constitution. Otherwise we are the enemies of our own country.

We need to register. We need to vote. We need to pick our leaders based on their private integrity and personal economics. Are they of high character and good morals as defined by the Bible? Are they in favor of plundering the haves and giving to other countries or the unemployed (and growing those ranks)? Do they buy our votes or protect our God given rights?

The choices could not be more obvious. Enslave yourself and your children to socialism or choose freedom and work!

May your support help us all get Absolute Real Knowledge and You closer!

Blue Stars Confirm Recent Creation

by Jason Lisle, Ph.D. *

Reprinted from Acts & Facts, 41 (9): 16, 2012

Orion is one of the most well-known and easily recognized constellations of the winter sky. The three bright blue stars in Orion's belt seem to draw our attention instantly.¹ Such stars are a strong confirmation of the biblical timescale.

Most stars generate energy by the process of nuclear fusion of hydrogen into helium in the stellar core. This is a very efficient power source. Theoretically, a star like the sun has enough hydrogen in its core to keep it burning for ten billion years. But that's not the case with blue stars.

Blue stars are always more massive than the sun. This means they have more hydrogen available as fuel. Yet, blue stars are much brighter than the sun; some are over 200,000 times brighter!² They are "burning" their fuel much more quickly than the sun, and therefore cannot last billions of years. Based on their observed luminosity, the most massive blue stars cannot last even one million years before running out of fuel.

None of this is a problem for the biblical timescale of about 6,000 years for the age of the universe. But if the universe were 13.7 billion years old, as secularists allege, then it really shouldn't have blue stars. Yet blue stars abound in every known spiral galaxy. It seems that these galaxies cannot be even one million years old.

Secular astronomers must assume that new blue stars have formed recently to replace all those that have burned out over deep time. They claim that some nebulae (clouds of hydrogen gas) eventually collapse under their own gravity to form a new star. Some astronomy textbooks even have pictures of nebulae labeled as "star-forming regions" or "stellar nurseries," as if star formation were an observed fact. But it is not. Star formation has never been observed.

Star formation is problematic at best.³ Gas is very resistant to being compressed. On earth, gas always fills its container. In space, there is no container. So gas expands indefinitely. If the gas could be forced into a sphere that is very small (in comparison to a nebula) such as the sun, then the gas would be held together by its own gravity. However, in a typical nebula, the gas pressure far exceeds the miniscule force of gravity. Secular astronomers now believe that external forces, such as a shock-wave from an exploding star, are necessary in most cases to trigger star formation.⁴ Observations confirm that gas clouds expand; they do not appear to collapse into stars.

Even if we could compress the nebula sufficiently to the point that the force of gravity was strong enough to prevent the gas from expanding, other effects would kick in, thereby preventing the formation of a star. Clouds of gas always have a weak magnetic field, which would be concentrated if the cloud were compressed. This dramatically increases the field strength. The magnetic pressure would halt a shrinking cloud and drive it to re-expand.⁵ It's a bit like trying to push the like poles of two magnets together.

Also, gas clouds always have a small amount of angular momentum; they rotate, if ever so slowly. But much like a skater who pulls her arms and legs in as she spins, a collapsing gas cloud would spin-up dramatically. The "centrifugal force" generated would tend to prevent any further collapse. Gas pressure,

Dire Dragons

Book review by Mark Jurkovich

Dire Dragons, by Vance Nelson, is the first in a planned series entitled “Untold Secrets of Planet Earth”.

Did you know that dragon legends and ancient depictions exist all around the world? It's not just Europe and China that claim dragons. Did you also know that many of the ancient depictions of dragons bear striking resemblance to dinosaurs? Vance Nelson first takes us briefly through some evidence that indicates dinosaur fossils cannot be millions of years old (Carbon 14, soft tissue, etc.) He then shows that early paleontologists used the words dragons and dinosaurs interchangeably.

The bulk of the book contains an excellent collection of depictions from around the world of animals that bear striking resemblances to dinosaurs. Vance traveled to many of these sites and was careful to validate the ones he could not personally visit. While the book does not contain some depictions that are famous among creationists, (see more at <http://www.genesispark.com/exhibits/evidence/historical/ancient/dinosaur/>) he provides intriguing new ones. A compelling feature of the book is his use of independent renditions of the dinosaur likely depicted in the ancient art work.

Beautifully illustrated, this book is an excellent addition to the growing works that show dinosaurs lived at the same time as man. Pick yours up at the ARKY store today!

magnetic field strength, and angular momentum all work to prevent star formation. From a scientific perspective, naturalistic star formation appears unlikely at best. The evidence seems far more consistent with the biblical account—it appears that stars were supernaturally created only thousands of years ago. With blue stars scattered across the cosmos, our universe certainly “looks” young.

Kids Korner

Hey kids! TJ here with an interesting fact about an amazing little person. First of all, think about your own age. Maybe you are 3 years old, 6 years old, 12 or even older! How tall were you in Kindergarten, Fourth grade or even in High School? Well, our fascinating character was a full grown adult when he was in the "height" of his success, but was only 40 inches tall! That's not even 4 feet tall! This man was small, but mighty. When he was just a young lad (that's Irish for boy), he reached a height of only 25 inches (just over 2 feet tall), and he weighed only 15 pounds! Wow! I can bench press over 5 times that! That means I could've lifted him over my head like lifting a weight. Though his height seemed like a "deficient" in his life, he became quite popular at the...are you ready for this...you will be envious...Ok, Ok, I will not leave you in too much suspense. His name was Charles Sherwood Stratton. His other name while performing as a world-famous midget was...drum roll, please... General Tom Thumb. The company he worked for was none other than Barnum Circus, now known as the Barnum and Bailey Circus, started by Phineas T. Barnum, who employed "General Tom Thumb" as a most unusually small military leader.

Until next time kiddies, keep looking up – and not just because everyone is taller than you! Look up to Him. (The material in this article was written in its original format by The Adelmans. The book is entitled, Super Facts. Playmore, Inc. Publishers, New York, NY.)

The Living Constitution

is a Group of Outlaws Staging a Robbery in Broad Daylight Everyday

By Ronnie E. Cooper

Any law or law maker that does not abide, protect, and defend the Constitution that gives it its authority is outside the law, an outlaw. The outlaws pervert the law and substitute their own law for the true authority.

The USA Constitution is the Supreme Law^[1] of the land. All others laws are subservient to it. Any law that does not directly find its support in the Constitution is an outlaw. The rightful place for the law is with those who established it:

- 1) the people (the law keepers, those found worthy of public office to be a representation, the jury and the voters)
- 2) the States (independent sovereign areas not associated with the federal government, who ratified limited, delegated, enumerated powers)

We have heard that our Constitution is a living document; it is NOT! Our Constitution is our foundation for our law; it is our protection from our own government; it is to be read, protected, proclaimed, and defended against all enemies, both foreign and domestic.

If you are not aware of how it is being treated with disrespect by our government, then you don't know what it says or what is happening in our land or the protections it has for us. Those protections need to be restored. A new vanguard of protectors needs to be set in place. We the People will do it, or we the people will perish and the outlaws will take over this land.

God's Perfect Plan for the Family An Outline for Meditation

by Ron Cooper

In personal conversations with hundreds of people over the years, I have noticed a consistent pattern in the Bible about the family that seems to be a surprise to almost everyone. God has a very specific plan for keeping families strong. Unfortunately, we seem to have forgotten it. This outlines that plan, and then allows you to tear it apart - if you can. Be warned; please use God's word, not your opinion. This is a study discussion aid.

The Beginning

Creation of Mankind in God's Image

- Physical body
- Spirit infused (breathed)
- Soul (also referred to as mind/heart)
- Naming of Adam by God

and suffering begins

Completion of Mankind

- Adam and Eve are fruitful
(Jewish tradition is 56 children)
- Training up their family
- Communication weakness
(not hearing or accepting wisdom)
- Failure in the family,

jealousies and murder

The library contains a four drawer cabinet stocked with flyers of historical/interesting sights for all 50 states. These can be utilized for school projects and need not be returned. A great source for pictures!

Do you know that another file cabinet contains creation publications that can be read in the library?

And it contains over 100 videos available for borrowing. Some are in DVD format, but most are still on VHS. There is a VHS player available for check out also.
